SECTION 6

PLANNING AND CEQA PROCESSES

PLANNING PROCESS

- Planning = process of deciding how a community uses land and other resources
- Planning involves analyzing environmental and socioeconomic impacts of development
- Planning decisions in unincorporated community require County approval
- State law requires the County to adopt a comprehensive, long-term General Plan to guide physical development

GENERAL PLAN

- Board of Supervisors adopted the General Plan Update in August 2011
- Provides foundation for decisions that will:
 - Affect the future location of housing, business, roads, parks, and other uses
 - Protect the public from noise, natural, and manmade hazards
 - Conserve natural resources

GENERAL PLAN

- Sets goals and policies that guide long-term physical development in the County
- Establishes standards for population density, building intensity, and distribution of land uses
- General Plan consists of two parts:
 - Text: Goals/policies directing land development
 - Maps: Maps/diagrams illustrating distribution of land uses, major road system, open space, hazard areas, etc...

REQUIRED GENERAL PLAN ELEMENTS

➤ General Plans are required to have the following seven elements:

- 1. Land Use: designates general location and intensity of housing, business, open space, public facilities, and other land uses
- 2. Circulation (Mobility): identifies location of existing and proposed major roads and transportation routes
- 3. Housing: assesses current and projected housing needs and identifies policies and programs to address needs

REQUIRED GENERAL PLAN ELEMENTS

- 4. Conservation: addresses conservation, use, and development of natural resources
- 5. Open Space: details plans for preserving open space and agriculture
- 6. Noise: identifies noise problems and forms basis for distributing land uses
- 7. Safety: establishes policies to protect communities from natural and manmade hazards

COUNTY'S GENERAL PLAN ELEMENTS

Land Use

Housing

Mobility

Conservation & Open Space

Safety

Noise

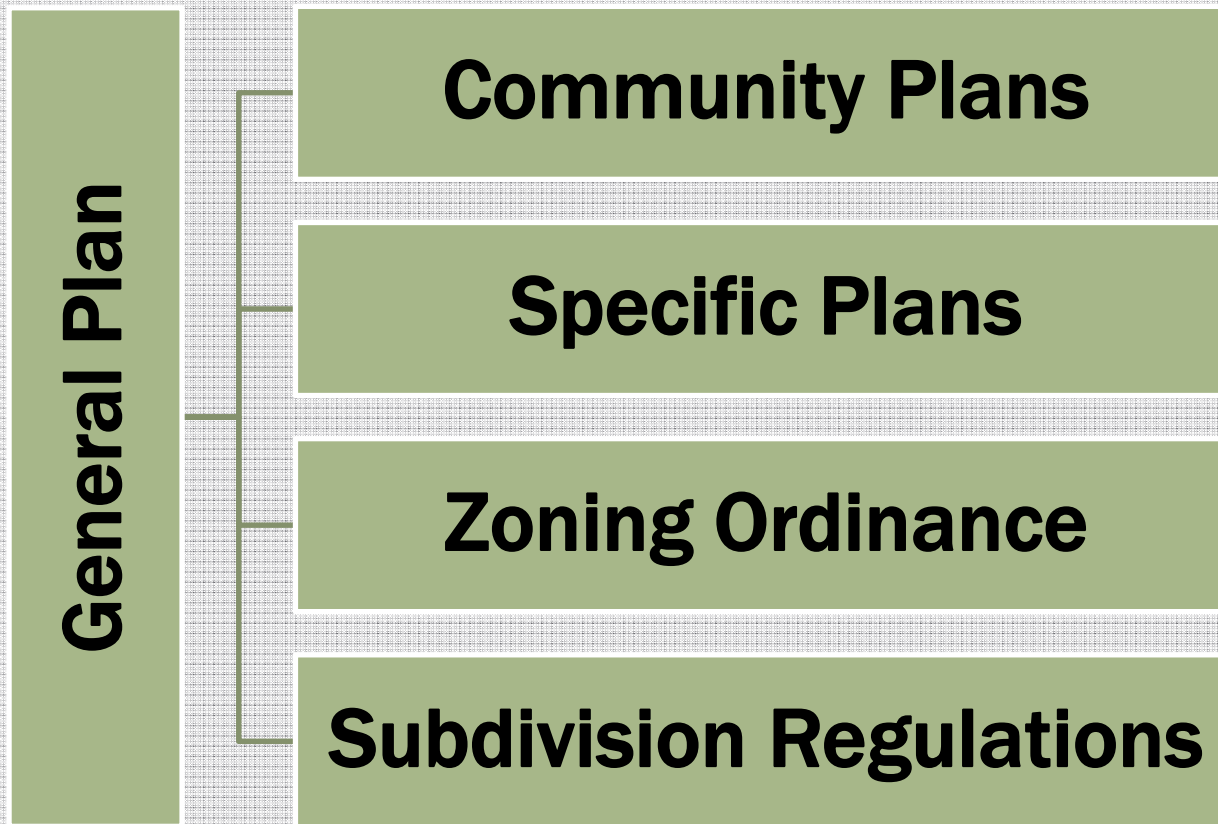

GENERAL PLAN CONSISTENCY

- General Plan is basis for all land use decisions
- All zoning, subdivisions, and public works projects must be consistent with the General Plan in order to be approved
- General Plan must be internally consistent and not conflict with other parts of the Plan
 - Elements cannot conflict with each other
- Each General Plan Element may only be amended four times per calendar year

GENERAL PLAN IMPLEMENTATION

- Specific Plans, Community/Subregional Plans, and the Zoning and Subdivision Ordinances implement the General Plan

COMMUNITY PLANS

- Community Plans focus planning efforts onto a smaller area or neighborhood
- 26 Community and Subregional Plan Areas
- Considered part of the General Plan
- Addresses issues important to a community and supplements General Plan policies
- Community/Subregional Plan must be consistent with the General Plan in all respects

SPECIFIC PLANS

- Implements, but is not technically a part of, the General Plan
- Describe allowable land uses, identify open space, and detail infrastructure availability and financing for a portion of a community
- Must be consistent with the General Plan
- Zoning, subdivision, and public work projects must comply with provisions of the Specific Plan

ZONING ORDINANCE

- Regulates land uses within the community
- Assigns each property a zone that describes rules under which land may be utilized
- Each zone identifies allowable uses and sets standards such as minimum lot size, building height limits, and building setbacks
- Zoning Use Regulations:
 - Residential (R)
 - Commercial (C)
 - Manufacturing (M)
 - Agricultural (A)
 - Special Purpose (S)

ZONING ORDINANCE

- Distribution of zones is based on the land use pattern established in the General Plan
- Zoning use regulations establish in specific terms the range of uses that are allowed by the General Plan
- Zoning maps illustrate how zones have been distributed
- Zoning is adopted by ordinance and land may be only put to those uses listed in the zoning use regulations assigned to it

REZONING

- If property owner proposes a use that is not allowed in the current zone, then a rezone is required
- Rezones require a recommendation of the planning/sponsor group and planning commission
- Rezones are approved by the Board of Supervisors at a public hearing

VARIANCES

- Variance is a limited waiver of development standards allowed by the Zoning Ordinance
- Granted where:
 1. Strict application of regulations deprive property of uses enjoyed by nearby properties in the same zone
 2. Restrictions have been imposed to ensure that no special privileges will be granted
- Does not permit a use that is not allowed in the zone

MAJOR AND MINOR USE PERMITS

- Some land use types are only allowed upon approval of a major or minor use permit after a public hearing
- The Zoning Ordinance specifies the uses for which a major or minor use permit is required, zones they may be allowed in, and the public hearing procedure
- Use permits impose special conditions to ensure a use will not be detrimental to surroundings
 - Examples: landscaping, soundproofing, limited hours of operation, road improvements, additional parking

SUBDIVISION ORDINANCE

- Dividing land for sale, lease, or financing is regulated by County's subdivision ordinance and the state Subdivision Map Act
- Land cannot be subdivided without approval
- County's subdivision ordinance:
 - Regulates lot size and subdivision design
 - Requires dedications of public improvements or related impact fees
 - Requires compliance with General Plan

SUBDIVISION REGULATIONS

- Two types of subdivisions:
 - Tentative Parcel Map: subdivisions resulting in four or fewer lots
 - Tentative Map: subdivisions resulting in five or more lots
- Subdivisions are approved in two stages:
 - Tentative Map
 - Final Map

TENTATIVE MAP STAGE

- Tentative Map and Tentative Parcel Maps are considered tentative maps
- Map is reviewed for compliance with General Plan and subdivision ordinance
- Environmental review is conducted
- If approved, map is subject to conditions of approval that must be satisfied within a specific time period
- Lots are not officially approved until a final map is recorded

FINAL MAP STAGE

- When all conditions of approval are satisfied, the Board of Supervisors will approve a final map
- Final map must be approved if it substantially complies with the previously approved tentative map
- Map may be recorded at the County Recorder's office upon final map approval

PERMIT TYPES

- 2 permit types that authorize development:
 - Ministerial Permits
 - Discretionary Permits
- Permit type depends on:
 - Nature of the proposed project or use
 - Categorization of a use in local ordinances
 - Various regulations affecting a property

DISCRETIONARY PERMITS

- Subject to the evaluation, judgment, and approval or denial by the local planning authority (Planning Commission, Board of Supervisors)
- Requires findings (reasons for approval/denial) to approve/deny project
- Have conditions of approval that must be satisfied
- Examples: Use Permits & Subdivision Maps
- Ministerial permits are generally required following approval of a discretionary permit

MINISTERIAL PERMITS

- Receive automatic approval upon demonstrating conformance with applicable requirements
- Not subject to discretion
- No decision maker decides whether or not a proposed use should be allowed
- Examples: Building Permits; Well Permits; Electrical Permits
- Not subject to California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA)

PURPOSE OF CEQA

- California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) was enacted in 1971
- Requires local governments to consider a project's potential environmental impacts before making a decision on it
- Purpose of CEQA is to:
 - Inform the public and decision-makers about environmental impacts
 - Avoid or mitigate significant environmental impacts with feasible measures
 - Disclose why projects with significant impacts are approved

DEFINITION OF “PROJECT”

- Whole of an action, which has a potential for resulting in either a direct physical change, or a reasonably foreseeable indirect physical change to the environment
- A “project” can be any of the following:
 - Activity of a public agency
 - Activity of someone who receives assistance (grant or loan) from a public agency
 - Activity involving issuance of a lease, permit, certificate, or other entitlement by a public agency

LEAD AGENCY

- Lead Agency: agency with principal responsibility for issuing permits for a project or for carrying out a project
- Responsible for analyzing possible environmental impacts and determining whether or not a project will significantly impact the environment
- County is usually the lead agency

CEQA DOCUMENTS

Notices of Exemption

- Minor projects not requiring environmental review

Environmental Initial Studies

- Identifies project's environmental impacts

Negative Declarations

- Prepared when a project will not have significant environmental impacts or has been redesigned to eliminate any significant impacts

Environmental Impact Reports

- Prepared when significant environmental impacts are identified

CEQA EXEMPT PROJECTS

- Many minor projects are exempt from CEQA
- No environmental review required
- Two types of CEQA exemptions:
 - Statutory: Specific projects or classes of projects designated by the State
 - Example: Ministerial Projects; Family Day Care Homes
 - Categorical: Projects predetermined not to have a significant environmental effect
 - Examples: Minor alterations of land; Conversion of a small structure

ENVIRONMENTAL INITIAL STUDY

- When not exempt from CEQA, an initial study is prepared to identify a project's potential adverse environmental impacts
- The Initial Study will:
 - Identify areas requiring more information
 - Be updated throughout the review process
 - Support the Negative Declaration
 - Be distributed during public review with the Negative Declaration

NEGATIVE DECLARATIONS

- Prepared when a project will not have significant environmental impacts or has been redesigned to eliminate any significant impacts
- Negative Declaration (ND): Describes why a project will not have significant environmental impacts
- Mitigated Negative Declaration (MND): Describes project with mitigation measures to ensure there are no significant impacts
- There is 20- to 30-day public review period

EXAMPLES OF MITIGATION MEASURES

Avoiding impacts by not taking action or parts of an action

Minimizing impacts by limiting degree of an action and its implementation

Rectifying impact by repairing, rehabilitating, or restoring impacted resource

Reducing or eliminating impacts over time by preservation or maintenance operations

Compensating for impacts by replacing or providing substitute resources

ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT REPORT (EIR)

- Environmental Impact Reports describe:
 - Proposed project
 - Environmental setting of the project
 - Probable environmental impacts
 - Means of reducing or eliminating impacts
 - Cumulative impacts in the context of surrounding development
 - Feasible alternatives to the project
- 30- to 45-day public review period

ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT REPORT (EIR)

➤ Purpose of EIR:

- Provide public agencies and public with detailed information about a project's environmental impacts
 - List ways of minimizing significant environmental impacts
 - Identify project alternatives
- EIRs may conclude that there are no feasible ways of eliminating all significant impacts, even after mitigation measures and project alternatives are considered

PROJECT APPROVAL

- The lead agency (County) must certify the adequacy of the environmental document (ND, MND, or EIR) before approving projects
- If there are unavoidable significant impacts, the lead agency must state, in writing, its overriding considerations for granting approval of a project
- When mitigation measures are required, the lead agency must enact a program for reporting or monitoring implementation of mitigation measures

PREVIOUSLY APPROVED PROJECTS

- Modifications to previously approved projects may require additional environmental review
- 15162 Findings: Identify whether a project will have new environmental impacts that were not previously reviewed or identified
- Addendum: Prepared if no new significant impacts are identified in 15162 Findings
- Subsequent and Supplemental EIR/MND: Prepared if new significant environmental impacts are identified and requires a public review period

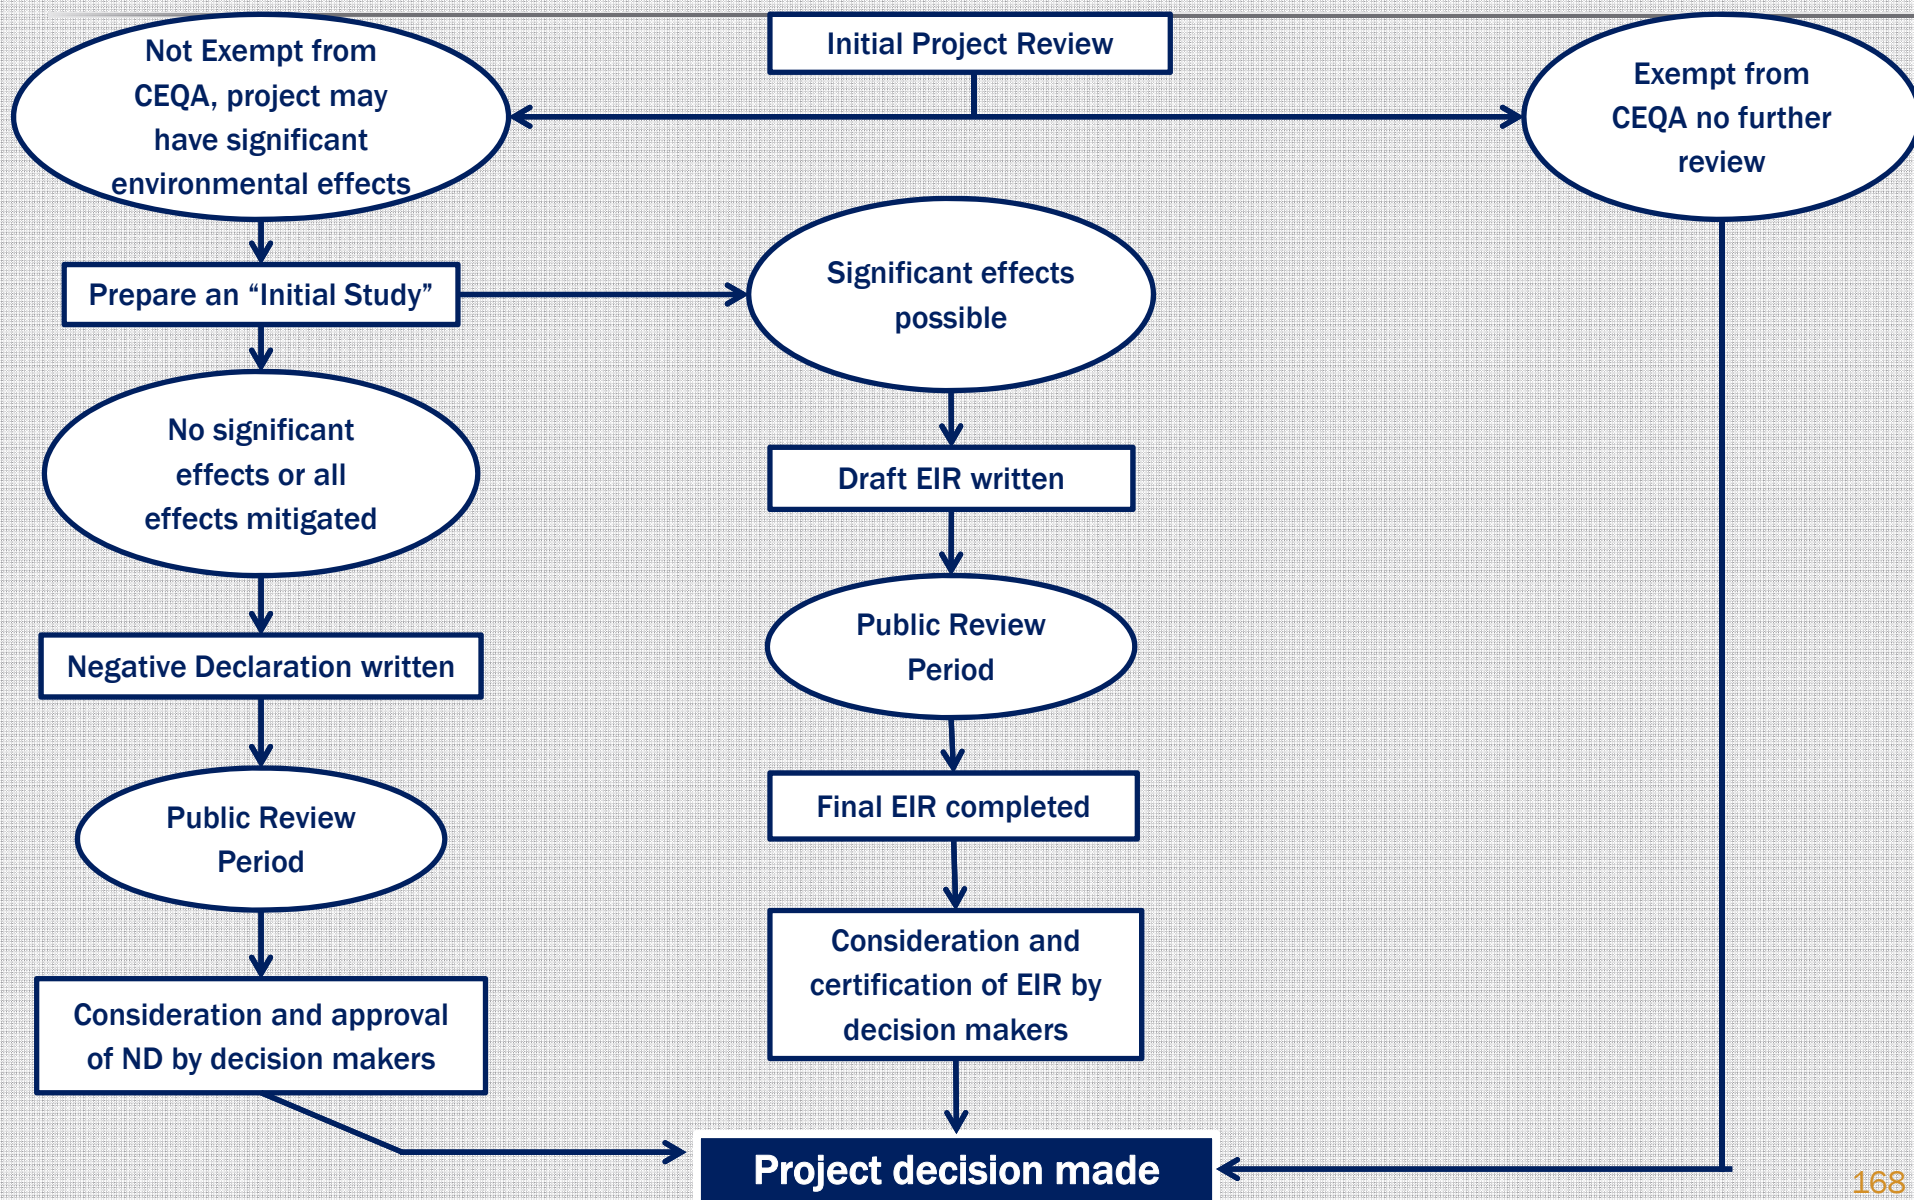

FURTHER ENVIRONMENTAL REVIEW

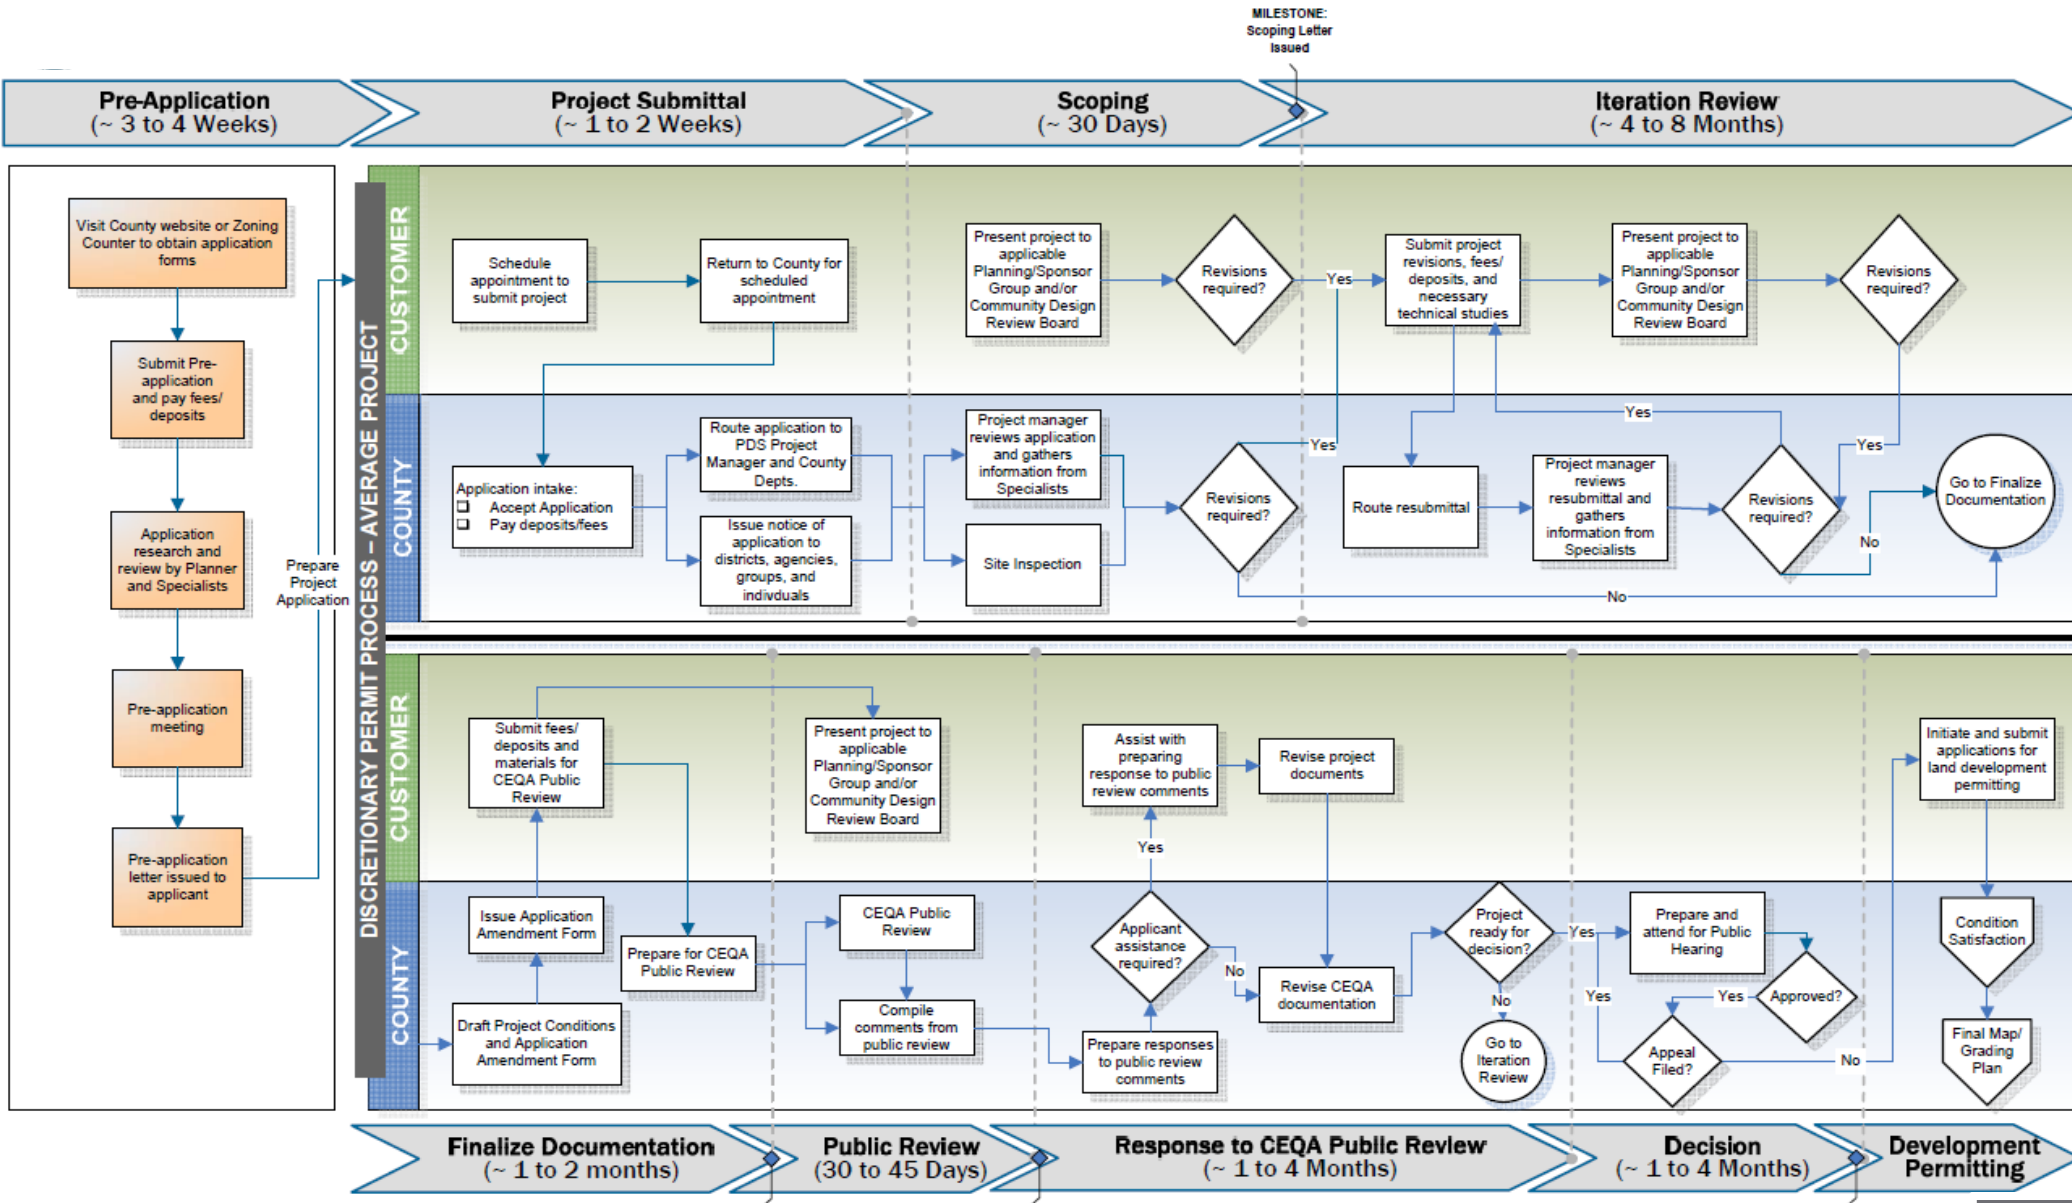

- CEQA limits further environmental review to:
 - Substantial changes that require major revisions to previous CEQA document
 - Substantial changes to circumstances under which project was undertaken which require major revisions to previous CEQA document
 - New substantially important information, which was not known and could have not been known with the exercise of reasonable diligence, shows that a project will have additional impacts

SIMPLIFIED CEQA FLOW CHART

DISCRETIONARY PERMIT PROCESS

Note: The above workflow is intended to depict a high level process of a sample project. Every project is unique and may deviate from the above workflow depending on project variables.

 - ND/MNDs: typically have 30-day review periods
 - EIRs: typically have 45-day review periods
- Planning/sponsor groups and the public may comment on CEQA documents during the public review period

FINALIZE CONDITIONS OF APPROVAL

- Conditions of approval are finalized after the CEQA public review period ends and may include CEQA mitigation measures
- All conditions of approval must be satisfied
- Conditions must be satisfied at different timing intervals based on the project
- Once conditions are finalized, a hearing report is prepared and presented to County decision-maker(s) for decision

STAFF/HEARING REPORTS

- Staff/hearing reports are prepared when projects are ready for decision of approval or denial by County decision-makers
